

Bishop Marcos*Coptic Orthodox bishop of Shubra al-Khayma, Cairo, Egypt

Member AWR Board of Advisors

The work of AWR is very important for the Coptic Orthodox Church in Egypt. AWR is the only initiative reporting and investigating Christian-Muslim relations that helps us to understand problems and deal with them in a proper way.

The work of AWR contributes to maintaining harmonious relations between Christians and Muslims that is an essential prerequisite for our development work. Social projects cannot be developed in areas where there are tensions. AWR helps us with their reports to address often complicated Christian-Muslim tensions and avoiding that they would develop in such a way that they would harm our church work.